

National Society Descendants of American Farmers

The National Society Descendants of American Farmers honors American farmers by recognizing the unlimited contributions they have made in the development of our country.

We award higher education scholarships to students who will follow in our ancestors' footsteps.

In 2015, Arkansas farmers produced 207,550,200 bushels of rice on 1.286 million acres. This accounted for 49% of all the rice produced in the United States.

We are now taking orders for the Arkansas pin shown. 1" silver plated hard enamel lapel pin with a butterfly clasp and plastic wrapped. In the center of the pin is an outline of the state of Arkansas with a picture of the sun setting over an Arkansas rice field.

Delivery date is approximately 30 August 2020.
